

Group of Forty
German Webinar "Planetary Healing" 05.07.2015
- Biorelativity -
by Cosmin Supeala

A warm and hearty welcome to all also from me, I am very honored, grateful and fulfilled to be with all of you today and I thank you for your openness and readiness towards the planetary healing work.

I would like to present to you today the concept or the principle of "Biorelativity" and how we can use it to bring healing and harmonization to the Earth and both indirectly or directly to the human collective.

In order to understand this principle or to even accept and embrace it, there has to be some prerequisites that need to be fulfilled. It is essential that we have a deeper understanding about the reality that surrounds us and about our own being. We cannot go into detailed explanation and presentation of these issues in this context of the webinar, that's why I will only shortly present these conditions and prerequisites, without bringing in the information and concepts that lay at their foundation.

To begin with, it is necessary that you have a certain consciousness regarding the Earth, namely that our planet Earth is alive, she is a being and her physical body represents our planet, at the same time we recognize and know this also for ourselves, we are spirit and energy and we need a physical body to have this human experience on this planet, each one of us and our planet has a consciousness that governs our experiences in this context of live and existence.

Second, we create this reality by expressing and using our consciousness and our intention. Our own reality relates not only to our own single being, but also at a human collective level to the general context of the human experience, where we are present, where we are an active, dynamic, co-creating integrating part, that means that our reality is deeply connected and merged with the one of the planet. So we recognize herewith the deep connection between mankind, as collective, and everything that the Earth represents for us.

And third, we accept and embrace the fact that we can communicate with the planet and we can co in a telepathic connection with Her, as an expression of our expanded consciousness and deep connection on many levels that we, as humans, are bound to, even before we are born as such.

The Arcturians introduced this new concept and word of "Biorelativity" within the Group of Forty and of course in our planetary work and define it as follows. These are quotes from David K. Miller's books:

Biorelativity describes the ability of human beings to telepathically communicate with the spirit of the Earth. The goal of such communication is to influence the outcome of natural Earth events such as storms, volcanoes, and earthquakes.

(David Miller, Biorelativity: Planetary Healing Technologies, 2011)

The idea, the principle and their practical application are not new on Earth, I would like to give you some examples for different forms of practiced Biorelativity now on the planet. The Native American people practice Biorelativity when pray for rain for instance. Through the dancing and singing and their songs and drums they communicate with the Mother Earth, with Gaia, with the spirit of the planet Earth and everything that She gives live to. The Hopi-Indian practice their Kachina-dances to influence positively weather patterns to have better favorable conditions to achieve better crops, depending on the season. The native American people cultivate also a deep connection and communication with the animal and plant reigns and overall with the nature that surrounds them and search always to align themselves harmoniously in the harmonious unfolding and cycles of life. Another example give the native Aborigines Australia's, that consider the Earth a part of their family, they express their spirituality within a deep connection with the Earth and go in a trance similar state of consciousness and can perceive the energetic meridians of the planet and use this ability for orientation in the deep desert or in the Outback. The Vedic priests in the southeastern parts of Asia practice special prayers, rituals and ceremonies in order to manifest rain as a local form of Biorelativity.

So you see, especially the native people of the Earth on all continents practice such rituals and exercises as a part of their rites and traditions, because the connection and unity with the Earth is a part of their believes, culture and way of life that they keep alive and cultivate. We can learn a lot from these people, because here lies the most important aspect of Biorelativity that needs to be recognized: to live in unity and harmony with the Earth, to work with her together, to go into a co-creative process with her, harmonious, in gratitude, respect and honoring for all that the Earth is gifting us and through all this provide a proper context for our own evolution and growth. If we live though in separation with the Earth and abuse her in irresponsible and disrespectful ways, there grows unbalance and we start to see and recognize, to be aware of the effects of this unbalance around us.

The Arcturians show us how they engage collectively in a loving and fully conscious co-creative process of ongoing harmonization with their own planet and at the same time their existence and living context and how they can keep an absolute state of balance on the planet, called homeostasis, through a focused creative unified working force and through the unity they build in the collective with the planet. This state of existence is a state with no extreme planetary events, but with a lasting, peaceful, harmonious environment for all inhabitants and living beings on the planet.

The Group of Forty embraces these teachings, in our focused work we concentrate on the harmonization on many levels of our coexistence and related to our planet and the context of existence and experience that the Earth, our Mother Earth, gift us with.

We focus in our work for instance on the extreme natural phenomena on our Earth in all their forms of manifestation and expression of the planet's elements that are not anymore in balance, like wild fires, droughts, hurricanes, earthquakes, floods and volcano eruptions. The idea behind this work is to reach a calming, harmonizing and soothing and even dissolving of these extreme manifestations together in a co-creative and supporting process with the planet and its own systems of self balancing, regulation and harmonization. The earth has such a system, that the Arcturians call "The Planetary Feedback Loop System". We also deal in our work in a direct or indirect way with the extreme situations for our environment created by mankind itself, like radioactive spill and environment pollution generally speaking, like for instance the tragic case of Fukushima.

Unbalance creates blockages, chaos, polarization and violence also in the collective human consciousness, as an expression and manifestation of separation between ourselves. The Arcturians teach us about the collective consciousness, subconsciousness and unconsciousness of a planet and of the collective that resides on the planet and call the planet their home, all these 3 parts build the so called "Noosphere". The work with the Noosphere in Biorelativity sessions includes the work with mental, behavioral and emotional patterns that are expressed by the collective and that are potentiating themselves and correspondently to the vibration of the pattern its energy support then finally manifest as reality.

We are completely conscious that all is connected , everything that is, as different kinds and types of energy fields that relate and interact with each other. We can reach an harmonization expressing powerfully and focused our loving, harmonizing intention in a co-creative process with the Earth. This intention and the power of its manifestation can be raised significantly in a group and can be connected with a higher source of light and energy that stays at our disposal to be focused on the intention to finally bring the harmonization intended for the highest good of the Earth and all Her inhabitants: humans, plants, animals. This is the way how we can co-create together with the Earth an harmonious balance for us all.